

Sunday, April 01, 2007

ses petites mains - Fall 2007

These are some pictures of ses petites mains' Fall 2007 clothing line, on display at Bubble last month. You may remember that we did a post about their new clothing company a few weeks ago. They make and sell traditional kids' clothing, free of branding and trends. You can currently get 15% off their Spring 07 collection at Orange Button by using the code 'tinychicdiscount'.

Wednesday, February 14, 2007

Ses Petites Mains

Please join me in welcoming to Ses Petites Mains to Baby Chic 101!

Ses Petites Mains is a tiny chic clothing line for girls, in sizes 12 month - 6 years. It's designed by Beth Miles and manufactured in San Francisco. They sell absolutely gorgeous clothing in the most beautiful fabrics, made for parents that are looking for clothing to cherish forever. But it's not just the outer beauty that makes Ses Petites Mains special.

Beth also wants her clothing to be something that children can be comfortable in. In fact, children being comfortable in nice clothing is one of Ses Petites Mains top goals. So Beth creates and sells clothing by watching her own daughter in her designs first. She sees what she is comfortable in, what she enjoys wearing, and how different fabrics work together on her. And whatever works is then created and sold.

All of Ses Petites Mains clothing is made in the USA, in San Francisco, by local workers who pay attention to every detail.

So if you're looking for some fashionable girls' clothing that your daughter will enjoy wearing as much as you will enjoy seeing her in it, check out Ses Petites Mains!

Available online at Orange Button.